xx. Teaching Learning Process

During the academic years 2024–2025 and 2025–2026, the BCA and BBA department had organized a variety of academic, professional, and co-curricular activities aimed at enhancing students' technical knowledge, career readiness, and overall personality development.

In the 2024–2025 academic year, the department conducted expert talks and sessions on career opportunities after BCA, networking essentials, algorithmic thinking, and prospects for teaching and research in computer science. These sessions, delivered by resource persons helped students understand industry expectations and develop problem-solving skills. Activities such as the Computer Literacy Program, Panel Discussion on Artificial Intelligence, National Science Day, and academic visits like the MYRA School of Business visit and industrial tours provided exposure beyond classroom learning.

In the 2025–2026 academic year, the department focused more on professional development and industry interaction. Programs on soft skills development, digital marketing and creative thinking, and professional training for first-year BCA students were organized to strengthen employability skills. A 4-day Artificial Intelligence training program conducted by ICT Academy in collaboration with IBM further enhanced students' understanding of emerging technologies. Additional activities included faculty development programs, industrial visits to Automotive Axles Limited and CIPET, a student development program funded under RUSA 2.0, and events such as Giga Hertz Gala and Maha Prayog Utsav 2026. Overall, these initiatives significantly contributed to bridging the gap between academic learning and industry requirements.

The BCA in Artificial Intelligence program organized several academic and co-curricular activities to enhance students' knowledge, creativity, and practical exposure to emerging technologies. In the odd semester, an Orientation Program was conducted to introduce first-year students to the course structure, academic expectations, and career opportunities in Artificial Intelligence and related fields. The department also organized HORMONIA-2025, a talent search event designed to encourage students to showcase their creative, technical, and cultural abilities. The event provided a platform for students to explore their talents, build confidence, and strengthen teamwork.

In the even semester, the department focused on developing practical and technological skills among students. A Workshop on Robotics was conducted to introduce students to the fundamentals of robotics, automation, and real-world applications of intelligent systems. The department also celebrated National Science Day, promoting scientific awareness and encouraging students to participate in activities that highlight innovation and research in science and technology. Additionally, a Workshop on AR/VR (Augmented Reality and Virtual Reality) was organized to familiarize students with immersive technologies that are increasingly used in areas such as education, gaming, healthcare, and simulation.

The activities organized for the BBA program during the academic year reflect a strong focus on academic enrichment, skill development, and industry awareness for students. A variety of events such as conferences, workshops, training sessions, interactive programs, and management events were conducted to enhance students' knowledge and practical skills.

The year began with a One-Day State Level Conference featuring distinguished speakers from reputed institutions such as Tumkur University, ICFAI Foundation for Higher Education, and Government First Grade

College, Bengaluru. This conference provided students with valuable academic insights and attracted significant participation. Students were also given exposure to national economic developments through the Live Telecast of the Union Budget, helping them understand real-time financial and policy decisions. Several skill-oriented programs were organized to improve students' professional competencies. Workshops such as AI for Skill Upgradation and Soft Skills for Career and Personality Development focused on enhancing technical knowledge, communication, and employability skills. Interactive sessions on topics like upskilling in the current era and presenting oneself and planning future careers helped students develop confidence and career clarity. In addition, training sessions such as MBA Entrance Exam preparation for CAT and MAT guided students towards higher education opportunities. Management-oriented events like Infinova and the Kaizen Forum Inauguration encouraged leadership, teamwork, and innovation among students. Overall, these activities successfully promoted academic excellence, professional development, and holistic growth among BBA students while encouraging active participation and learning beyond the classroom.
